MONUMENT TO THE SOLDIERS AND SAILORS OF MORGAN COUNTY, ILLINOIS

MORGAN AREA GENEALOGICAL ASSOCIATION, P.O.Box 84 Jacksonville IL 62652-0084

The Monument to the Soldiers and Sailors of Morgan County, Illinois
by Robert Dalton

On November 8, 1920, the monument to the Civil War Soldiers and Sailors of Morgan County, Illinois was dedicated. Due to inclement weather, the ceremony for the monument that stands in the center of Jacksonville's Central Park was held at the Centenary Methodist Church on East State Street.

Deeded to the people of Morgan County in 1825, Central Park had often been badly abused. Livestock grazed there, a railroad was built across it, and for a few days, street car tracks went through it until a judge ordered their removal. A court house was located in Central Park prior to the erection of the present court house in 1868.

In 1874 the city council ordered the park to be beautified. An iron fence was ordered to replace the high board fence enclosing the park. Benches were put in place, sidewalks laid. A large metal fountain was ordered and it stood in the center of Central Park until about 1904 when it was replaced by a pagoda. About 1919 or 1920 the pagoda was removed to Nichols Park where, greatly remodeled, it still stands in 1995.

A white arch, apparently constructed of wood and honoring the veterans of the Spanish-American War, once graced Central Park.

During the Civil War hundreds of men from Morgan County had left to fight in the Union Army and at least two men had gone to fight for the Confederacy. In the years following the War's end, the matter of a monument to honor those who served in the Union Army had often been discussed by the community.

Finally, on March 16, 1916, W. H. Jordan brought up the idea of a monument, and to him goes the credit for initiating the enterprise. He spoke earnestly in favor of the project and so much enthusiasm was generated that a committee was formed to carry it out.

The first committee consisted of C. Riggs Taylor, C. E. McDougall, J. M. Swales and J. F. Self. Mr. Jordan was added and later T. B. Orear and Hassel Hopper. Still later, John E. Wright, Samuel Warren Nichols, Dr. Charles Henry Rammelkamp and Judge Montreville T. Layman became committee members. The committee organized with C. E. McDougall, Chairman; J. F. Self, Vice-Chairman; J. M. Swales, Secretary; Hassel Hopper, Assistant Secretary, and C. Riggs Taylor, Treasurer. When Capt. Swales removed to Chicago, Hassel Hopper was made Secretary and when Mr. Hopper died, Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp was made Secretary. Finally, when Major McDougall died, S. W. Nichols was chosen Chairman.

A proposition was placed before the voters to enact a tax to pay for the proposed monument and the people cheerfully voted the money. On February 17, 1917, the county commissioners, D. W. Wilson, W. F. Roegge and Charles S. Magill, granted permission to erect the monument in Central Park.

The Morgan County Monument Association advertised for plans, specifications and models, to be submitted in such a manner that the voting members would not know the artist or company submitting the plan. Despite these precautions the committee was later accused of attemped graft. Twelve models of the proposed monument to the Civil War veterans were displayed at Academy Hall and were inspected by members of the Illinois Art Commission. The successful architects were Morrison & Walker of Chicago, and the successful sculptor was Leonard Crunelle, also of Chicago.

Leonard Crunelle, born in France in 1872, was brought to America when he was nine years of age. His teachers in Decatur, Illinois, recognized him as a youth of great talent. He was sent to Chicago to study with Lorado Taft and Augustus St. Gaudens. Before his death in Chicago in September of 1944, Leonard Crunelle became well known for his Negro War Memorial in Chicago, his monument to Gen. Artemus Ward in Washington, D. C., the Govenor John Palmer monument in Springfield, and for the Lincoln figures in Springfield, Dixon, and Freeport, Illinois.

A Mr. Archer and his son superintended the construction of the monument and gained the hearts of the people of Morgan County. The architects, Morrison & Walker, suffered delays that cost them thousands of dollars, but they never made any public complaint.

The day of dedication arrived on Monday, November 8, 1920. The weather was so bad that the planned unveiling was cancelled. Instead, the assembled people accepted the invitation of the congregation of Centenary Methodist Church to meet in their church, which was heated especially for the occasion.

Horace H. Bancroft, representing the Matt Starr Post of Grand Army of the Republic, said of the monument: "This magnificent and expressive monument of granite and bronze stands forth in splendid grandeur as tribute to heroes living and dead. . . Here this monument will forever stand, magnificent, beautiful, rich in artistic expression, the embodiment of the gratitude of a truly grateful people."

Judge Henry Paul Samuell, responding on behalf of the public, said, "Morgan County can claim many brilliant men, but this monument gives credit not only to the brilliant leaders but to the private ranks."

The principal speech was given by Congressman Richard Yates, son of the Civil War govenor of Illinois. Congressmen Yates told of the stress his father, Civil War Govenor Richard Yates, suffered as he saw Illinois men leave to serve on the battlefields. When the senior governor Yates urged Abraham Lincoln to accept more troops from Illinois, Lincoln telegraphed back to him: "Hold still, Dick, and see the salvation of the Lord."

In a very lengthy and emotional speech, Congressman Yates reviewed the course of the Civil War. He paid special tribute to a former Jacksonville resident, Stephen Arnold Douglas, for Douglas' efforts to prevent the Civil War. However, once the conflict started, Douglas gave his all to aid the Union cause.

Congressman Yates praised the women of Morgan County for their work, suffering, and endurance throughout the Civil War.

Women had been singled out also by the creator of the monument, Leonard Crunelle. The monument in Central Park is one of a very few in America that recognizes the role of women in the War Between the States. Crunelle used the figure of a woman to personify "Sacrifice, offering her choicest gifts to the great cause." The head of this figure is 36 inches in circumference; the nose, two and one-half inches long. Crunelle also used a statue of a woman, "Columbia," to top off the monument. At the dedication ceremony, Dr. Charles Rammelkamp said of the bronze statue: "Columbia, that stately, beautiful figure on top, crowning all and gazing in the direction in which the boys of 1861 marched, typifies the spirit of America, calling us to a better and nobler citizenship."

There is great detail in this bronze figure as compared to the starkness of the granite figures. Possibly Crunelle sculpted his figure of Columbia in a soft material such as plaster of paris or clay, then used the "lost wax" process to cast it into bronze. Theoretically, Crunelle could have sold the same figure more than once, pouring or re-casting the figure as many times as he had purchasers. Of course, the seal of the state of Illinois on Columbia's shield would need to be changed to suit the purchaser's location.

The perpendicular granite panels beneath Columbia serve as fine showcases for the brilliant crystals of quartz and the dull white, gray and pink flecks of feldspar that are in the granite which was quarried in Georgia.

The 63-inches-tall granite statue on the east side of the monument represents "Patriotism" answering the call to arms. The head of this figure of a man is 33 inches around and the nose is three inches long.

The model for "Patriotism" was 23-year-old Greek-born George Salages of Chicago, who posed for Leonard Crunelle at the Lorado Taft studio in 1917.

Forty-six years later, in 1963, Salages came to Jacksonville to see the completed monument for the first time. His visit was reported in the JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL COURIER. Because Hilda Rexroat of Literberry had the foresight to put the story in her files, we are fortunate to learn something of Salages and how he happened to pose for Leonard Crunelle.

Salages was a professional middleweight boxer who eventually fought 11 professional bouts, winning all 11. Salages was asked by a representative of the Taft studio if he would pose for artists, and that is how he met Leonard Crunelle.

In 1920 Salages lost his eyesight and was forced to retire from boxing. "But," said Salages,
"in 1924, by some miracle, I regained my vision and went back to work with Ford Motor Company in Chicago. I retired in 1960 after starting to work for them in 1918." Salages' wife noted how he had changed from 1917 to 1963. He "has changed from 158 pounds of muscles of steel to 175 pounds of blubber."

Bronze panels on the monument contain the names of Morgan- area men who served in the Civil War. Names were submitted by the veterans themselves or by a member of the family. Some men from other counties were included because they enlisted from Morgan County. One of the panels was added later, listing names that missed the original deadline, and correcting some of the most glaring errors contained on the original panels.

One of the bronze panels is hinged so it can be lifted and serve as an entryway to the cement-lined deep room under the monument. The octagon-shaped room allows maintenance workers access to the plumbing for the two fountains that were installed in 1976. The ornamental fountains were added as a local project to observe America's 1776-1976 Bicentennial.

Also as part of the Bicentennial observance, a missing panel on the monument was replaced. James Marker, an Illinois College senior student from Champaign, did the research in locating the names on the missing panel so the replacement could be made.

In July and August, 1990, the entire monument received a facelift. The granite was cleaned and the joints tuckpointed. The green patina was removed from the bronze statue and panels, restoring them to their original color. This work was done by employees of Mid-Continental Restoration Company.

Standing in splendid grandeur

BY GREG OLSON
Journal-Courier

A FORMER BOXING CHAMP from Chicago saw himself in stone during a visit to Jacksonville 36 years ago.

George Salages came here in 1963 to see a granite statue he had posed for at the famous Lorado Taft studio in Chicago in 1917. "This is the first time I have seen the work since it was completed," Mr. Salages told Jacksonville Daily Journal reporter Art Harris at the time. "They told me it was here, but I wanted to see for myself, and now I have. I'm happy."

The Greek-born Mr. Salages was the model for "Patriotism," the muscular-looking allegorical statue on the east side of the Civil War monument in the center of Central Park Plaza.

The bronze and granite monument was sculpted by Leonard Crunelle, a student of Mr. Taft, to honor all of the Morgan County citizens, both men and women, for their contributions in winning the Civil War.

The granite figure of a woman on the west side of the monument represents "Sacrifice," while the crowning, bronze statue of a woman is known as "Columbia."

Bob Dalton, of Jacksonville, who has researched the history of the statue, says that it is unusual to see a monument that recognizes the role of women in the Civil War. "We are fortunate to have a monument of this caliber in Jacksonville," says Mr. Dalton. "This monument stands up against most in terms of quality that you'll find."

Bronze tablets at the base of the monument list the names of Morgan County men who served in the Civil War.

The bronze and granite monument was sculpted by Leonard Crunell, a student of Mr. (Lorado) Taft, to honor all of the Morgan County citizens. both men and women, for their contributions in winning the Civil War.

Mr. Dalton says that Mr. Crunelle became fairly prominent for sculpting the Gen. Artemas Ward monument in Washington, D.C., the Gov. John Palmer statue in Springfield as well as Lincoln figures in Springfield, Dixon and Freeport.

Horace H. Bancroft, representing a Civil War veterans' group at the local monument's dedication in 1920, said: "This magnificent and expressive monument of granite and bronze stands forth in splendid grandeur as tribute to heroes living and dead...Here this monument will forever stand, magnificent, beautiful, rich in artistic expression, the embodiment of the gratitude of a truly grateful people."

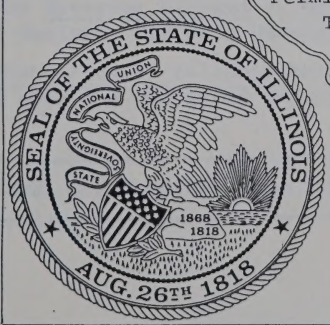
A PRAYER FOR THIS FAIR LAND WE CALL "OUR HOME" -- ILLINOIS!

Father, we pray, that Thine All-Seeing Eye
Will watch o'er this great Land of Illinois.
As an Eagle protects his nestling's dome,
Guard, bless all people who call our State "Home"!
Give Divine Protection -- Shield, in due course,
Our state's Flag from harm and evil force.

Give wisdom, good judgment, concern and care,
To leaders of our State and Nation dear;
Preserve our Motto's expressed opinion,
As "State Sovereignty -- National Union".

Father, give young people now on Life's stage,
Greater understanding of their heritage.
May all find incentives, courage and pride,
To protect this land where they now abide.

Permit the Rising Sun of Happiness
To shine on Water--Prairie--Precipice.
Preserve for our eternal pride and joy,
This fair land
we call "Our Home"
ILLINOIS!



Re-designer of the ILLINOIS STATE FLAG of July 1, 1970.

VOLUME NINE OCTOBER 2001 ISSUE FOUR

The Third Great Seal of the State of Illinois was designed by the renowned sculptor Leonard Volk, by 1867 to celebrate the Golden Anniversary of Statehood in 1868, and during the construction of our State's sixth Capitol authorized by the General Assembly on February 25th. The corner stone was laid October 3, 1868, but the building was not completed until 1888. Executive Record Volume 12, 1868.

The Emblem of the Seal Design is composed of Nine Heraldic Elements which have been imprinted on the 4th Illinois State Flag since July 1, 1970.

The Rising Sun of Prosperity and Happiness is shining on the Waters and Prairies of Illinois.

The Eagle, symbol of Power And Majesty, is proudly flinging his Ribbon Scroll to the sky proclaiming our State Motto: "State Sovereignty - National Union".

The Shield, no long needed on the Breast of the Eagle since the Civil War was over, leans in honorable tilted heraldic position implanted against the Boulder representing the State of Illinois.

The Thirteen Stars and Thirteen alternating Red and White Stripes honors the founding of Our National Union with Thirteen States. The three rows of stars represents the Three Branches Of Government -- Executive, Legislative and Judicial Functions.

The Laurel Branch represents glorious Achievements of Soldiers, Navy Men and Citizens who have made Illinois great during its early years of existence. This was especially true during and after the Civil War in which Morgan County played an important part.

The Dates: 1818 represents statehood achieved December 3, 1818 when our fourth president of the United States, President James Monroe signed the bill admitting Illinois as the twenty-first State in the National Union.

The Fourth State Flag of Illinois, authorized by Amended House Bill 340 was Signed Into Law by Governor Richard J. Ogilvie on September 16, 1969 in the prescence of its major designer Florence Hutchison, and other qualified attendees.

The new State Flag of Illinois became the legal flag as of July 1, 1970 and was displayed over the Old State Capitol as of that date

INSPIRATIONAL TID-BITS FOR OUR SEEKERS OF FAMILY HISTORY TO THINK UPON

"A great discovery", wrote the late Elbert Hubbard, "was that it is the emotions which controls the secretions of one's body. .... cheerful, happy emotions are similar to sunshine -- they stand for health and harmony, and are constructive. Goodwill is sanitary, kindness is hygienic, friendship works for good, ...and all are vitalizing to the life-producing actions of one's body. ...."

Thrust in thy sickle, and reap; for the Time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe! Rev. 14:15
